

Analysis of Simulations Done 3-13 and 3-14

All simulations are not well matched. If you look at the Smith Chart of S11 on all simulations, you can see there is a cluster of points around 50 Ohms. But, there are plenty of outliers. More work needs to be done on the coplanar waveguide so the VSWR is less than 2 throughout the whole system.